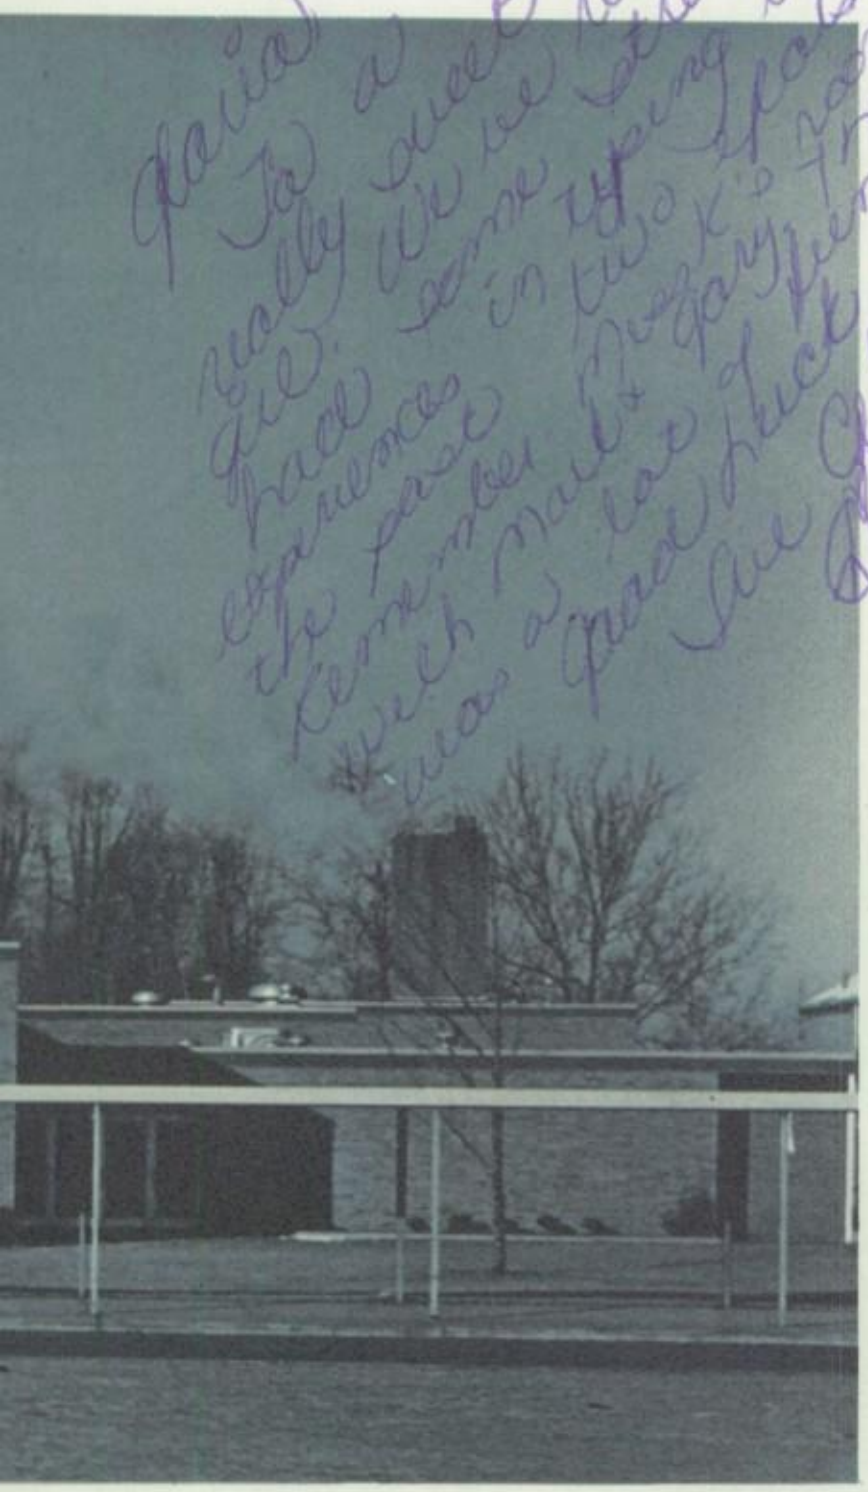
By Student — School — Community



Much depends on the high school years. Goals are formed and self-values are strengthened. Former views and opinions may be discarded in exchange for newer ones. All this contributes to an individual who is an asset to the community.

The association between Cousino and its students is a very important one. Through knowledge and way of life, the students learn how to shape an entire future.

There is a close relationship between a school, the community, and its students. Because of this relationship, Cousino has established itself as an integral part of a functioning community. However, the students play the most important part of this unit — they are the direct link between their surroundings and their school.

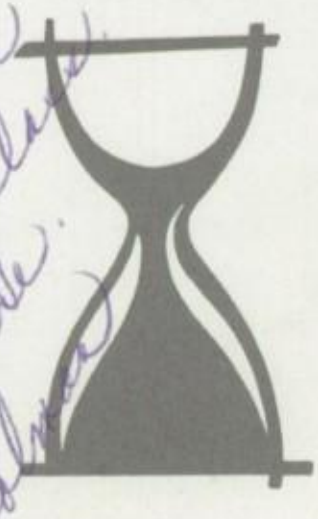
Relaxed Atmosphere at Cousino Gives



Many things happen to a person when they go to high school which will continue to affect them long after they graduate. Perhaps, building new friendships is one of the major parts of school. Gaining a true friend is one of the most rewarding events one can experience. Only to a friend can one pour out all the tensions of a coming dance or the anxieties of tomorrow's exam.

However, there are as many types of friends as there are people. Some may be casual acquaintances and some may be classified as "best" friends.

Hopefully, most friendships are carried on past graduation. Underclassmen say goodbye to their friends in June, knowing they will see them again in September. Seniors hesitate as they say goodbye for the summer knowing it may be for the last time.

Gloria, you're a very nice girl that I've been knowing in history class. Good luck in the future. Debbie Cochran "70"

There are the hours of study so important to the daily agenda of a student. Between the Sunday Night Movie and the Friday night games, the books, pencils, paper, and reports become common place objects and tools .

Each student has had their turn at oral reports, term papers, and book reports. Most will remember staying up cramming till one o'clock the night before the test has been postponed. These and many other things make up high school.

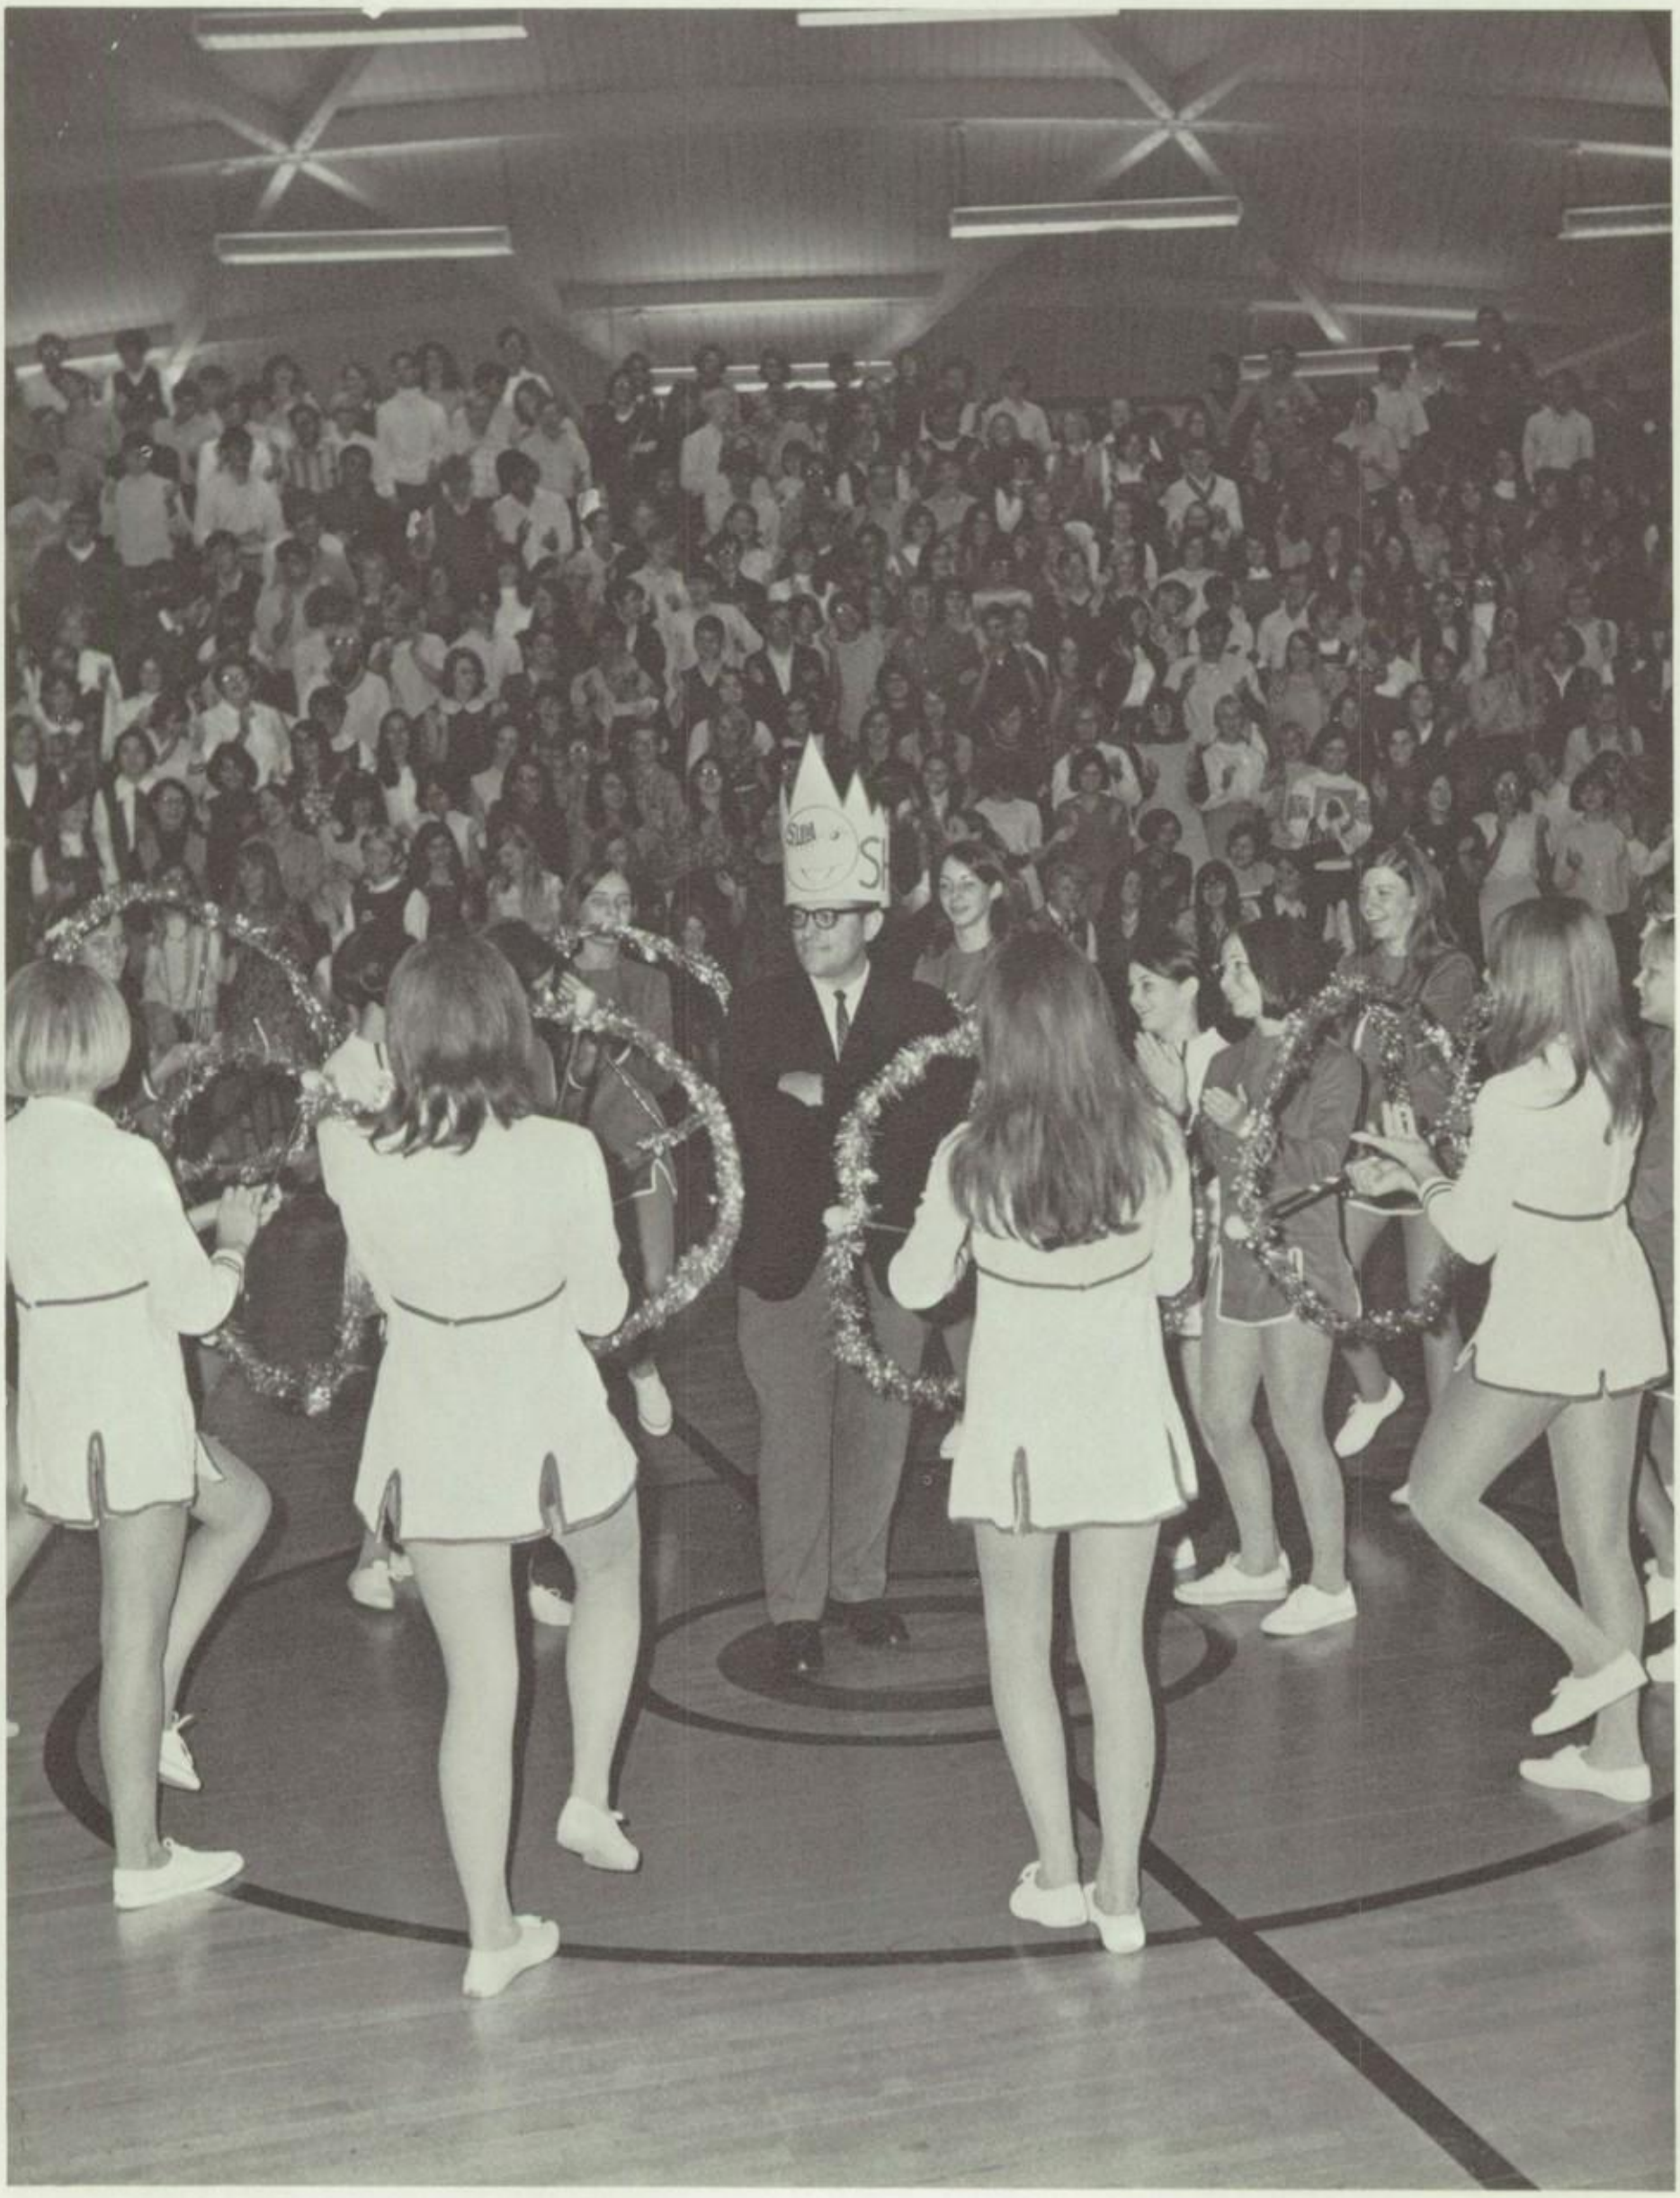
Looking to the future, the hours of study will become priceless stepping stones to new challenges. The security that comes along with knowledge collected through the high school years will be referred back to time and time again.

Activities

No school is complete without its quota of dances, plays, and other social activities. Yet, however small they are in number, these are the ties we will look back on fondly, and a little wistfully, in the years to come.

The "Sunshine Bowl", the "Ugly Man Contest", the "Sadie Hawkins Dance", and the Homecoming weekend will always bring back a feeling of excitement. Perhaps to many, the Junior-Senior Prom will bring back the fondest flood of memories. Momentos saved will be treated with great care because they stand for everything that one night was — the nervousness before it began, the enjoyment during the dance, and the sadness when it ended.

Such strong emotions are not easily forgotten. Even after the last flowers wilt, and the photographs yellow, they will be remembered.



Varsity cheerleaders Diana Ulrich, silhouetted against the blazing bonfire, gazes into the cheering crowd.

Varsity Patriettes' skill proves the long hours spent in practice.

Bonfire Begins Activities of Homecoming Weekend

Cousino's fourth annual homecoming held September 27, began with the bonfire, building up spirit to back our team for a great game. Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Wrestling cheerleaders led the crowd in cheers while majorettes performed with fire batons, later igniting the bonfire.

The parade of the Homecoming candidates, and the junior and winning senior float occurred at half-time ceremonies, during Cousino's first Homecoming afternoon game against Lincoln. Following this was the announcement and crowning of Sandy Bell as Homecoming Queen 1968. Although the game ended in defeat, the enthusiasm of all Patriots came through.

The Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the Varsity Club, brought the weekend to a successful climax. The dance was held in Cousino's gym with Bob Foston's Quartet entertaining. For those who attended, it ended all too soon, and was truly an occasion that will be remembered by all.

Sophomore Cindy Gehrke and senior Pam Patyk kindle the spirit of victory by leading the crowd in cheers.

After two weeks of hard work on their Homecoming banner, the Class of '70 wins for their second year.

Half-Time Festivities Generate Spirit, Excitement

Bruce Furwa escorts Dianna Ulrich to the field where the queen will be announced.

As one picture can say a thousand words, Sandy Bell radiantly expresses the exciting happiness of being Homecoming Queen.

The dream of being Homecoming Queen becomes reality as former queen, Karen Turowski, crowns Sandy Bell while George Donaldson, her escort, looks on.

Thespians Present Dramatic Murder-Mystery

"Any Number Can Die" was presented by the Cousino Thespians November 21, 22, and 23. The drama, directed by Miss Sally Harlow with student directors, Jenny Constantine and Nancy Blaock, was written by Frank Carmichael and is a take-off from the play "Ten Little Indians" by Agatha Christie.

The scene is set in the year 1928, in the house of an old man, who upon his death leaves millions of dollars hidden within the house.

Student actors were: Rich Matters (Hannibal Hix'); Mike Watters (T. J. Lathrop); Jenny Baetz (Ernestine Wintergreen); Beth Lyon (Celia Lathrop); Laura Weaver (Sally Van Viller); Mary Bagmer (Zenia). Also, John Turo (Roger Master); Marty Tuck (Chuck); Aleda Krause (Judy); Greg Wyzywany (Edgars); Tim Steffon (Carter Forstman); Dan Miller (Jack Riegent).

While attempting to reveal the true murderer to Hannibal Hix, Celia Lathrop is shot in the back of her head.

Christmas Sparkle to Cousino's Student Body

Cousino's Varsity Club's hard work on the 1968 annual Snowball was reflected in the gay Christmas trees and decorations which helped transform the cafeteria from a noisy lunchroom into a warm, romantic atmosphere.

The elegantly dressed couples danced to the wonderful melodies played by the Bob Foston Quartet, while other couples relaxed and talked among themselves as they sipped delicious punch served by the Varsity Club members.

But all too soon, the annual Snowball came to an unforgettable end as students departed to make their dinner reservations. Although the dance was over, it was not forgotten as the students are left with beautiful, everlasting memories of the wonderful way the Varsity Club brought Christmas to the Cousino students.

Christmas Concert Displays Cousino's Holiday

The festive mood of the Yuletide season was expressed by Cousino's seventh annual Christmas concert. The band, Varsity Chorus, and Senior Girls Chorus performed at the concert. "Jingle Bells," "Two Kings," and "Deck the Hut With Coconut" were among the selections sung by Varsity Chorus under the direction of Leif Linbolm. Senior Girls Chorus sung such carols as "Thirty-two Feet," "Holy, Holy, Holy," and "A La Na Na Nita," with student director Mary Jo Santilli. The band, directed by Douglas Avery, completed with "Greensleeves," "Winter Holiday," and "A Christmas Festival."

The Class of '69, overcome with enthusiasm and school spirit, rose as the victors over the Juniors for the Pep Pot. It was a hard-fought battle, but the Seniors' determination to retain the Pep Pot for two consecutive years helped them win the honored trophy.

The Seniors and Juniors prepared for the final battle for the Pep Pot for many days, making posters, Senior banners, and letter cards spelling Cousino, Seniors 69, and Juniors. The results showed that Cousino students really do have a lot of school spirit.

The coaches were also honored at the pep assembly. Team members awarded their coaches with certain gifts which revealed their gratitude for the help the coaches gave to their team.

Students 'Do Their Own Thing' at Pizza Party

A flashing light show, sparked by a silver foil decorated cafetorium, and the hard beat of a rock band set the perfect scene for students to "Do Their Own Thing". This was the theme for Cousino's Thespians third annual Pizza Party.

It all started on February 12 at 7:30 as students arrived at the cafetorium. Thirty rolls of aluminum foil had transformed the walls and stage into a silver room of psychedelic sparkle. As the drums started, "The Downtown Clergy" provided the rhythmic beat for students to dance.

Refreshments were sold including potato chips, ice cold Coke and Sprite, and, of course, pizza. Students also provided a fascinating light show. The use of an opaque projector and colored dye oils resulted in kaleidoscope projections on the ceiling.

It was a perfect night to dance, enjoy the music, eat pizza, and get together and relax with friends. The evening closed leaving another happy memory of high school days in the minds of all who were there.

Latin Club Banquet Recreates Atmosphere of

The Latin Club Banquet held on the Ides of March, March 15, at Warren High School, helped to advance students' knowledge of Latin by introducing them to the culture of ancient Rome. The saying, "When in Rome do as the Romans do," typified this festivity, for everyone wore togas, and ate their food in a reclining manner.

Participants included sponsor, Mr. John Masi, members of the Latin Club, and also, members of Warren High's Latin Club and their sponsors. At the banquet, slaves (Latin I students) served their masters (Latin II and III students), being obliged to do anything they requested and thus experiencing a variety of situations.

The traditional banquet proves to be an enjoyable evening of relaxing and socializing in the traditional Roman style.

Memories Fill the Students' Minds As They Glance Back Through the Year

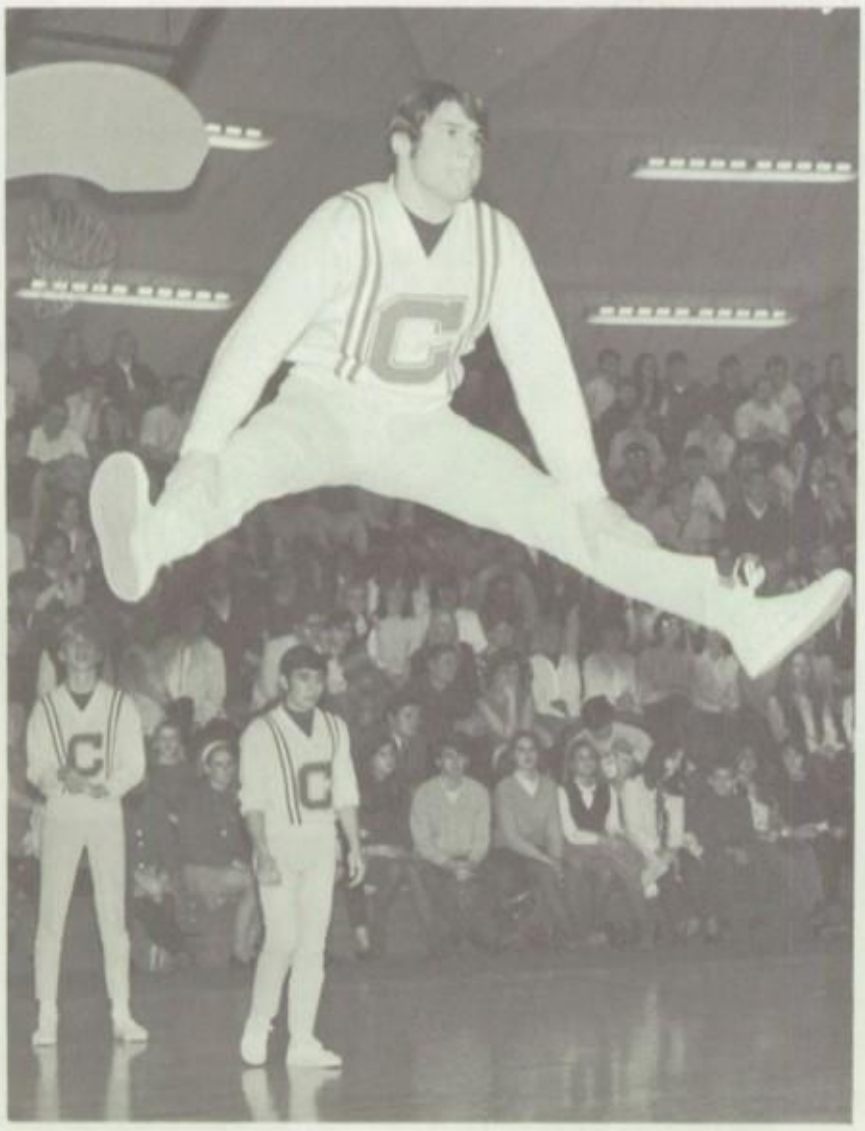
Jan Boles, Jo Ann Urban, Pat Shock, Ellen Carmichael, and Julane Brooks, perform their majorette routine during a pep assembly.

For some students, this is their last year at Cousino. For others, there are still years here remaining. But for all, the 68-69 school year was one which brought happy moments and sad ones. It has now passed, and it can only return in memories.

This year was one of firsts to some — a first homecoming, a first dance, a first prom, a first basketball game, or a first year in high school. But, to the Seniors, it was the last — their last homecoming, their last high school prom, their last high school football game, and, most of all, their last year of high school. The freshmen and sophomores are just beginning their high school years, while the Seniors are ending it.

Years from now, as the yearbook is taken out and read, memories of Cousino and the lasting impressions it brought, will be remembered.

Masters Jim Ewashenko, Chris Parry, Sam Whatley, and Jim Nadlonek command slaves Sharon Bimer, Pat Nestor, and Karyn Olani to carry their books to class.



Dennis Doyle leaps in the air as Coach Billy Skaggs' name is announced at the beginning of a Varsity basketball game.

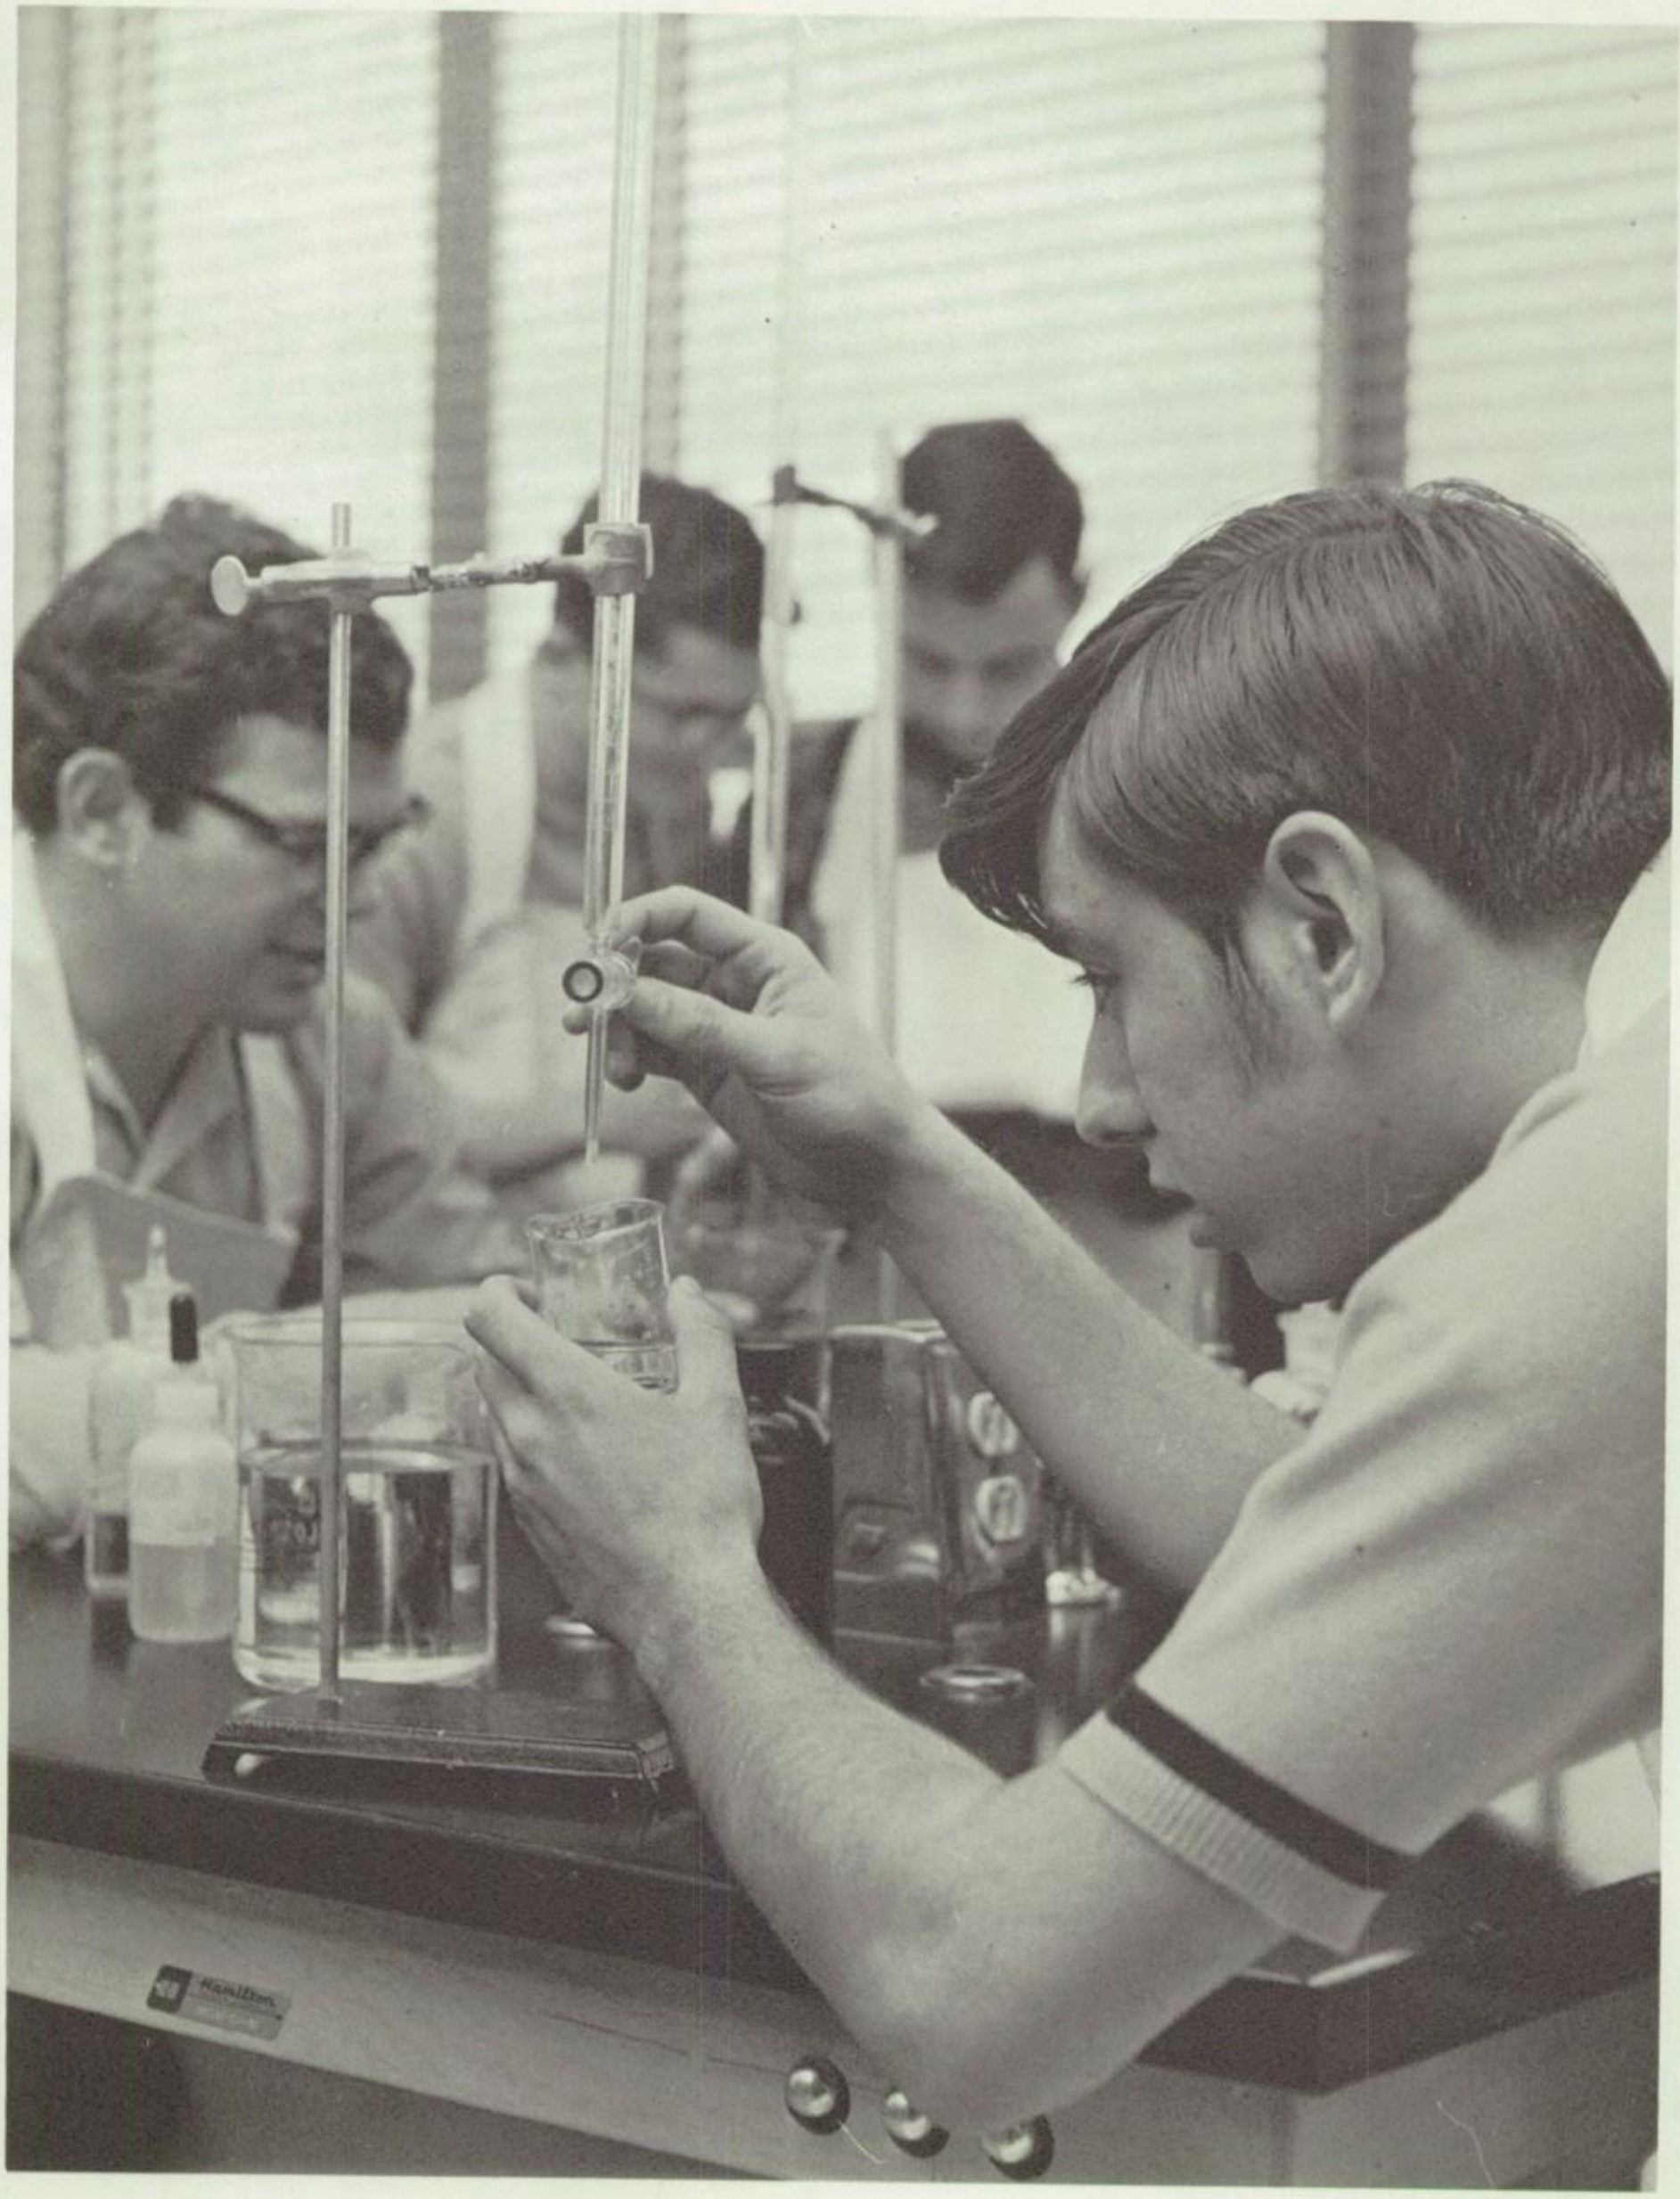
Robbie Preston and Gloria Donahue reminisce old times in the silent gym and empty bleachers after a basketball game.

Faculty & Academics

A bond is built between the student and the teacher when the student first starts school. In the beginning, the child looks upon his teacher as simply an educator. However, this bond continues to grow and strengthen through the years and takes on meaning, dimension, and purpose. The student recognizes his teacher as a friend and accomplice in an unending quest for knowledge.

Each year more knowledge is acquired for the heritage that is Cousino. Every class leaves something behind for the next classes.

This is how education grows and will continue to grow. Cousino is an educational institution and is built on the accumulated knowledge that each new year brings.



Able Administration Creates lasting Impression;

Mr. Hector Grant expertly accomplishes one of his many duties as principal of Cousino.

Interest and desire to develop Cousino's school spirit and academic achievements are the main goals of our administration board. Mr. Hector C. Grant, principal, and his assistants, Mr. Jerome Victor, Mr. Donald Julien, Mr. Raymond Yurko, and Mr. John Kastron have combined all of their capabilities to develop a strong and united student body.

Through the careful aid and instructions of our dependable secretaries Marcia Kuebel, Rosemond Schnell, Anntoinette Miriani, and Judith Buchanan, Cousino has grown in both curriculum and reputation.

Expertly Mrs. Judith Buchanan and Mrs. Anntoinette Miriani organize attendance records.

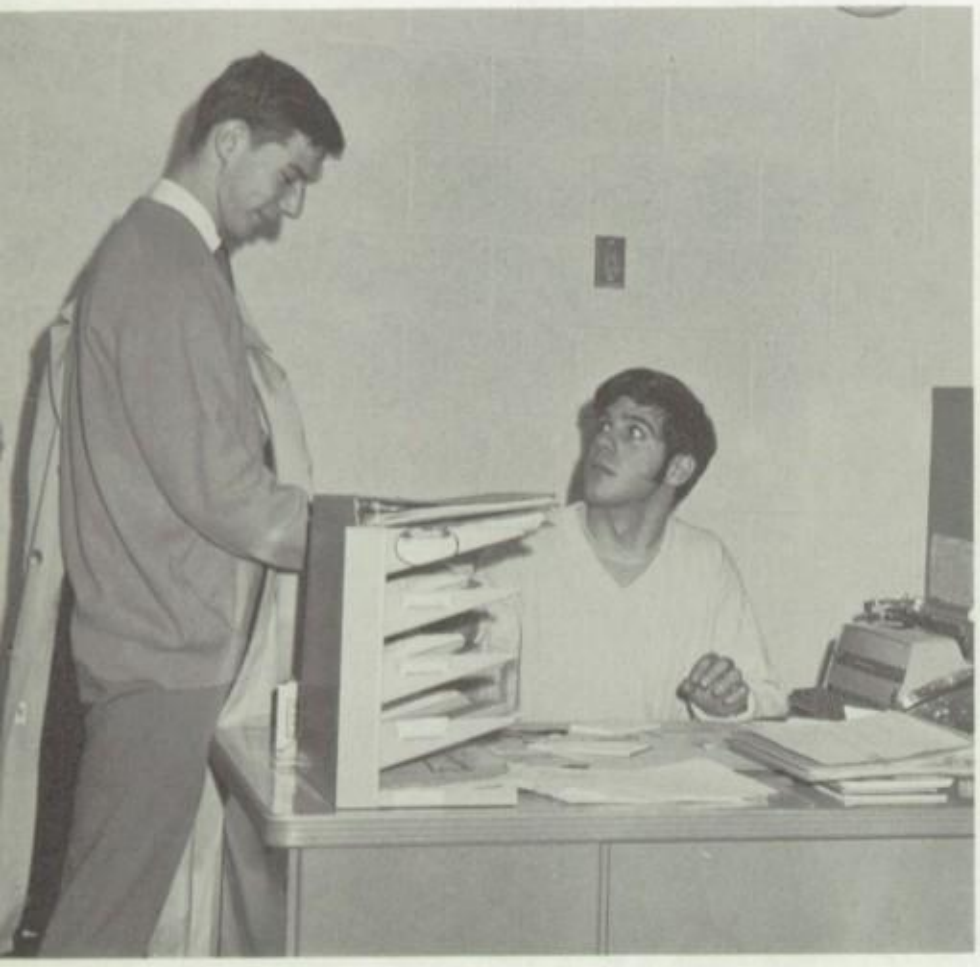
Mr. John Kastran and Mr. Jerome Victor, Assistant Principals, discuss future plans involving Cousino.

Aids Growing Student Body

The Administration Board, Mr. Donald Julien, Mr. Raymond Yurko, Mr. Hector Grant, Mr. John Kastran, and Mr. Jerome Victor discuss details of current events of Cousino Senior High.

Working as a unit, the secretaries, Marcia Kuebel, Rosemond Schnell, Anntoinette Miriani, and Judith Buchanan efficiently run the office.

Helpful Counselors Aid Cousino Students



Aid Ralph Pinto, hands Paul Bringer counseling pass.

Cousino counselors help Cousino in many ways. They are friendly, sincere, and understanding. Their major role is to help a student plan his future. They set a guide for a student to follow, such as their curriculum needed to enter a college, business or industrial world. They also advise students on personal problems they may have. The counselors, Mr. Robert Jones, Mrs. Kay Melzow, Mr. James Callighan, Mr. Brian Clark, Mrs. Muriel Lenz, Mr. William Hanley, and Miss Alexandra Atwood, properly advise all students to the best of their abilities, still providing each student with the individual guidance they need.

Improved Teaching Techniques Through Better

Seniors, Joyce Wojdacki, Keith Buchanan, Eric Jason, and Gazala Baig, lead Humanities class in discussion.

To develop in a student personal integrity in thought as well as in expression is the main goal and objective of the English department staff. The staff realizes the necessity of developing in a student, during the time he is involved with English, the exact aspects of his langua¸e in regards to his future.

The proper techniques to be used in a research center is the first step taken by a tenth grade student towards the direction of better understanding. During the student's second year of English, in order to understand the techniques of writers, an involved research of American authors is conducted. The conclusion of better English understanding for the senior is developed through the study of areas such as the proper form in filling our applications of employment, college and the research of English literature.

Since Cousino does have a wide variety in the social studies courses, students are able to become more involved and interested in their daily curriculum.

The principles of geography, physical and cultural, can be illustrated better for the students because of new resources offered at Cousino.

Evolving from these studies, students may have better insight and understanding of the world around them, making them better citizens of the future.

Cousino provides adequate courses for business students: Typing, Shorthand, Business Law, Management, Retailing, and Office Co-op.

Students benefit from those business courses because they gain the qualities of competence, knowledge, and adaptibility. It prepares them for the challenges of the business world after completion of high school.

Those courses also open the door for a glimpse into the higher levels of business education, to be pursued at the university for those who want to become the future managers of our enterprises. Since it is evident with the higher standards of education, more qualified people will be needed.

Math Develops Logic; Intrigues Students

Mr. Myron Yanitz, geometry instructor, gives students a study hour after assigning homework problems.

Through mathematics man has been able to solve many problems, essentially those that have helped man to understand the basic principles and concepts of the universe. The demand of mathematics is ever-increasing in the fields of scientific research, industry and engineering. For that reason, Cousino has widened the field of math.

Basically, geometry and algebra develop logical thinking, a step by step process which students should use to evaluate any number of things.

Algebra-trigonometry, analytical geometry and calculus is one course offered over a period of 40 weeks. Algebra-trigonometry is the first 20 weeks, analytical geometry and calculus is the other 20 weeks. This and other math courses help make a well rounded person.

CHS has accelerated courses for those with exceptional mathematical abilities, which are similar to freshman college courses.

Mr. Joseph McKinstry and Mr. Drew Pisha go over new algebra-trig. formula to make the problem easier for students to comprehend.

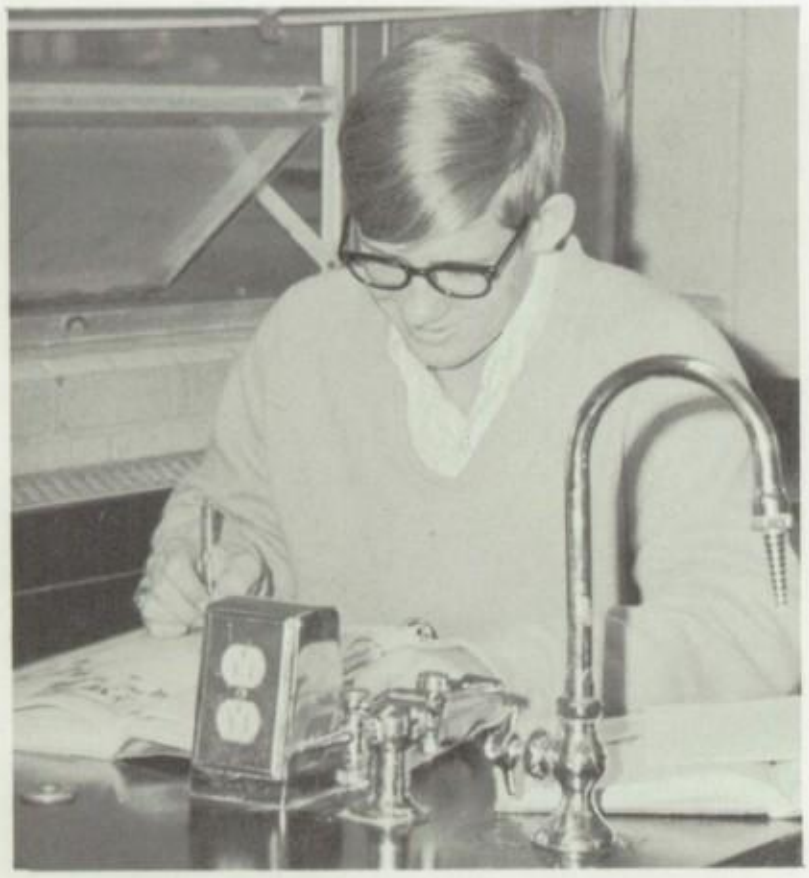
Science Opens Doors to World of Unknowns



Paul Slowik rereads chemistry for better understanding.

Science and its main branches stem out to try to find possible answers for questions which have probed the minds of all mankind for centuries past and yet to come. The world and man's evolutionary theory, birth, life, death, and the whys of motion, are what students at CHS deal with from day to day. Through lab experiments with opinions and conclusions, students can try to understand the interesting world of science.

Biology is offered so a student may learn about the unity and diversity of microorganisms, plants, and animals.

Chemistry is available for those who wish to study the behavior of atoms and molecules. The more difficult class offered at Cousino is physics. It deals with theories, such as Newton's theory of gravity. Students study the beliefs, and experiment for other possibilities. Electronics, the study of electricity, light, radio, television and transistors, has great boundaries, for Cousino has its own student radio station, WPHS.

Eager Students Benefit

The successful accomplishments of many students in the developing of an involved class assignment can be often attributed to the helpful assistance of our librarians, Mrs. Patricia Baird and Miss Marion Gieraltowski. Their capabilities in directing a student to the proper source of information is expressed by their dedicated attempts towards regarding all students that request their aid.

The teaching of the handicapped is a difficult and involved job that is successfully achieved through the efforts of Mr. James Hecklic and Mrs. Penelope Moran. They extend to the students that attend Special Education classes the aid in achieving accomplishments towards improved communication with those around them, through patience and dedicated assistance.

Experienced Staff Develops Creative Ability

Students that obtain the imaginative ability of creating displays of art, find dependable aid and interest among the Art and Industrial Art staff. During the courses of Art, beginning with the class of Design and Media, the students are introduced and instructed about the main fundamentals of design and the various techniques available in order to develop. Drawing and Painting I and II are also available where the proper techniques of oil painting are introduced.

The imaginative skill necessary in students in order to enter the field of architecture is developed and expertly directed by the able staff of Architectural Drawing I and II, and the mechanical aspects taught in Mechanical Drawing I, II, and III.

Sophomores, Jerry Roski and Gary Oikarinen concentrate on their individual art projects.

On Move This Year

Cousino's Music Department offers extensive opportunity in district and state competition. The Band, Chorus, and Orchestra all received excellent ratings at festival this year under the direction of Mr. Douglas Avery, Mr. Leif Lindblom, and Mrs. Ann DiFiore.

Through individual and group guidance, students strive for perfection. Various techniques and styles of different composers are studied, classical and contemporary.

Resulting from rapid growth and betterment, the CVC will return to England this summer. There, they will perform in various locations in the country. Several Band and Orchestra students, after many days of preparations have been accepted at Interlochen National Music Camp this summer where they hope to benefit greatly.

Senior Donald Smith, clarinet player watches carefully not to miss a note in his presentation.

Students Stay Physically Fit Through Exercise

Foreign exchange student Sven Eriksson eagerly helps sophomore learn the skills of the balancing beam.

All students are required to take at least one year of physical education to be eligible to graduate. Physical education is a necessity because it gives students a chance to express themselves and develop better co-ordination.

Students with advanced abilities are able to take gym seminar. This course teaches advanced skills, student leadership, and students assist teachers with tenth grade classes.

Basic skills taught in physical education classes are swimming, gymnastics, basketball, volleyball, speedball, golf, tennis, badminton, and soccer. Also girls are taught modern dance and softball while boys improve their skills in baseball and football. Occasionally under special supervision students are allowed to go on a canoe or hiking trip, it gives them the opportunity to explore the outdoors.

Cousino's gymnasium houses up to date facilities to keep students physically fit, enabling them to have a more wholesome future.

Future of Students Regarded and Improved; School Maintenance Expertly Handled

The cooks combine efforts in providing a nutritious meal for the students.

Future planning and the successful development of each student's plans depends on the professional aid they need to receive by an expert staff. Students who seek the aid for the successful development of their future plans can receive such expert attention and instruction from the capable Homemaking staff. The students that attend such classes as Homemaking I and II, Senior Homemaking, and Boy's Homemaking obtain secure guidance in regards to domestic aspects of home living.

Mrs. Fern McCall, as school nurse, has adequately aided many students with medical problems. Capably the custodians have maintained Cousino successfully and the cooks have provided students and teachers with nutritious, hot meals.

Students regard the meal served to them.

Organizations

The purpose of school is to round out a person both intellectually and socially. A varied academic and social program makes this possible. Whether a student be sports-minded, community-minded, or academically minded, such activities are provided at Cousino.

The organizations are numerous and varied and range anywhere from National Honor Society to Human Relations Club to Pep Club. However, these clubs are the spices of school life and are very important to the make-up and personality of the school.

They are equally important to the formation of an unique individual, capable of going out into the world. Organizations offer each student the opportunity to develop and cultivate new interests in himself and the community. Such organizations leave a lasting impression on each student for the years to come.

Band, Patriettes Show

Janet Boles and Sandy Grzadzinski patriotically salute.

The Patriettes attended Fred J. Miller Majorette Camp in the summer to sharpen their ability in twirling and showmanship, and grew from one squad to two this year. There are nine on the Varsity Squad and nine on the newly founded Junior-Varsity. Another addition to the squad was the introduction of ten year-old Kathy Viviano as its mascot.

The Advanced and Intermediate Bands combined during the fall to present the pre-game and half-time shows at Cousino home football games. Christmas and Spring Concerts are other events presented by these musicians.

Both the Band and Patriettes had the privilege of attending the University of Michigan Band Day on September 21, with 150 other bands from Michigan. Under the direction of Mr. Douglas Avery and Mrs. Kathleen Gettings, the half-time shows were greatly impressive to the viewing audience.

Orchestra, Photography

The Cousino orchestra's main purpose is the enjoyment its members receive in playing and performing good music. The orchestra again played its part in the Cousino Christmas and spring concerts as well as entertaining elementary and junior high students.

The Future Nurses Association has again, this year, shown its aid to the community. Under the direction of Mrs. Fern McCall, the club "adopted" two patients during the Christmas holidays, made puppets for various orphanages and took a field trip to Grace Hospital.

To learn to use and care for all types of photography equipment was the goal of the photography club. Under the supervision of Mr. Burt Basney, the photographers took pictures for the Sentinel and Heritage staffs and planned the building of a dark room at Cousino.

Through Joint Effort

Members of the Cousino Varsity Chorus will once more tour the cities of the well-known country of England, but this time as a community project. While in England they will give concerts and take a few side trips to the countries of France and Scotland. In the beginning of the school year the chorus sold candy to raise money for their trip to England.

Northern University, with our chorus, on January 30, 1969 combined to give a concert for the student body of Cousino High and their parents. Northern University's chorus is rated one of the top three in the nation.

Senior Girls gave Winter and Spring Concerts. Within the chorus itself there are Solo and Ensemble Groups. They also attended the Michigan School Vocal Association District 10 Choral Festival with the Varsity Chorus.

Mr. Lindblom directs the Varsity Chorus vigorously.

Debate Club prepares for a challenge against Warren High School.

The newly founded Debate Club of Cousino High has gained much recognition for its fine job. The club has competed in over 50 debates and has won the majority.

National Honor Society represents the academic standing of Cousino's senior and junior students. Social, Fund-Raising, Scholarship, and Initiation are a few of the committees founded within this scholarly organization.

The Math Club is another addition to Cousino's numerous organizations. The club went to a Chrysler Plant for some instruction about the modern day computers. A plaque was presented to the school because of this clubs ability in the large field of mathematics.

Representative Student Council Sponsors Notable

The Student Council this year consisted of twenty-five members plus officers. Of all the events and activities sponsored or co-sponsored by the council the most notable have been: the Sunshine Bowl, the Black Oddesey Exhibit on Afro-American culture and history, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, the Inner-City Christmas Party for the poor children, and the Dating Game which was a combination program involving Warren and Cousino High School students.

The student representatives also participated in a three school council which helped up-date the dress-code of all Warren Consolidated High Schools. The success of the council was due to the involvement of the student body.

The Heritage Staff sponsored a Thanksgiving Dance to pay for some cost of those year's yearbook. The yearbook has received a first class rating in the nation wide competition.

The Sentinel brings to the individual the interest of the whole student body combined in joint efforts. During the school year the paper sponsored "The Mother Waddles Food Drive" to help the poor in the inner city program.

Through the guidance of Mr. Paul Tocco, the new advisor, the yearbook and paper has been successful, with hopes that years to come will be as prosperous.

for Spirit, Honor, Success

The Lettermen of Cousino High have participated and sponsored many activities for students. The Homecoming festivities along with the Christmas Snowball were two of the most elegant social affairs of the 1968-1969 school year. A teacher-student basketball game was sponsored for enjoyment of the student body as well as the teaching staff in order to gain a closer teacher-student relationship.

Varsity Club consists of some of Cousino's finest athletes, who try to maintain the high name Cousino has encountered through all sports events. A special activity for the boys themselves was a "Varsity Club Fun Night" in which they had the use of all facilities in the school.

Junior, Senior Deca, OEA Create Interests To Job Opportunities

The OEA, Office Education Association, a newly formed club at Cousino, sponsored by Mr. William Auten, Co-op Coordinator, has undertaken many activities during the 1968-69 school year. The activities began with a candy sale to promote money for a ski-trip in February. Other money-making projects included bake sales and movie parties attended by elementary students.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA), under the direction of Mr. Gary Fenn, is a nation-wide organization striving to learn new techniques of the buying and selling industry. The ever-popular Co-op Shop helps the students to practice what they have learned on real customers. The Co-op Shop runs under the motto, "If we don't have it, you don't need it."

Cousino's radio station has initiated a new tradition for itself, each month a "Miss Warren Radio" is chosen from all student girls interested. A new time period has also evolved from Cousino's station; it is on from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Electronics Club is combined in both class as well as the club. The students work on radios and phonographs that they have sent away for as a kit. The club advisor is Mr. Engh.

Exercises Interests

Cousino's Latin Club, advisor Mr. John Masi, develops an understanding of the Latin language and focuses their attention on Ancient Rome. Again this year, Cousino's and Warren High's Latin Clubs united to produce a successful Latin Banquet.

Members of the German Club all have one thing in common, an interest in the customs and people of Germany. To develop this interest the members travelled to Frankenmuth, Michigan in November, for a day of fun.

A club dealing with physics and chemistry is Cousino's Phi Chi Club. Sponsored by Mr. John Parrotta, the Phi Chi Club is made up of some of the best scholars in the school. Many of the members are planning on majoring in chemistry or physics in college and may someday be great in the field of science.

Library Aids, Girls Social Club, Find Enjoyment, Pleasure in Work

Sue Wrobel searches for the right card.

A club which enables friendship and knowledge of people is the Girl's Social Club. Being acquainted with a majority of people in life is a challenging opportunity for those who wish to pursue this goal. The Girl's Social Club makes this reachable for an individual.

The Library Aids help to keep the functioning of the library smooth. The girls devote their time and effort to students who have trouble finding books and magazine articles needed for special reports as well as enjoyment. Library and index cards kept in order is another job well-done by these devoting girls and their sponsors Miss Gieraltowski and Mrs. Barid.

Bowlers, Skiers Show Precision in Performance

A relatively larger club than ever before, the bowling club, with advisor, Miss Delores Porter, travelled every Thursday afternoon to Continental Lanes for an evening of doing the thing enjoyed most by the club, bowling. With helpful hints from their sponsor, Miss Porter, some members reached highs of 240 a game.

The ski club, one of the oldest clubs at Cousino, attended its regular Tuesday evening ski trips, to Pine Knob and weather permitting, skied for up to four hours at a time. With lessons and help from older members, the new members learned to ski. The club, under the direction of Mr. Burt Basney travelled to Blue Mountain, in Canada, for its week-end ski trip which turned out to be a huge success.

Pep Club, Drama Club Strive for Common Goal; Stressing Spirit, Variety, Entertainment, Unity

Enthusiastic students cheer for Pep Pot.

The Pep Club again displayed a fine showing of school spirit by having students cheer for the Pep Pot. Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors with the class of '69 winning the Pep Pot, all joined in to create one of the best years Cousino ever had.

Cousino's drama club, the Thespians, under the direction of Miss Sally Harlow, began the season with the mystery thriller, "Any Number Can Die." "David and Lisa" which began try-outs in December, was the second play produced by the Thespians. Another activity which kept the drama club busy was the annual Pizza Party held in February. Both clubs add a touch of variety to the school year.

Modern Dance, GAA, Practices To Compete With Skillful Movement

The Girls' Athletic Association (GAA), this year, proved to be very active in its many sports including swimming, basketball, baseball, volleyball, field hockey and tennis. This year synchronized swimming, a form of ballet done in the water, was added to the list of many activities.

Sponsored by Mrs. Betti Decker, the Cousino Orchesis (Modern Dance Club), the only part of GAA which allows males to participate, once again displayed its many talents. A concert, which took place in March, with its theme "Mass Society and Its Effects on Individuals" was a huge success. Other activities included a concert at Warren High and a performance at a banquet in March.

Work Toward Creating Activities for Classes

Both Senior and Junior classes strive for one goal throughout the year and this is to create new and different activities, with the help of advisor Mr. Ted Cichecki, for their respective classes.

The Senior Council's main objective was to make 1969 the best year Cousino seniors ever had! Many activities were planned for the seniors and among them were Senior Week and Senior Dress-up Days.

The Junior Council, as in years past, planned the annual Junior-Senior Prom which was again held in the elegant Latin Quarter. Money making projects, such as selling refreshments at home basketball games, helped the Juniors plan a beautiful prom.

Underclassmen

Each year brings something new to Cousino in the form of underclassmen. Annually, the new classes must stand under the constant eyes of the upperclassmen for the first few weeks. Each year they face a new experience and like everything new, must go through a period of adjustment. However, they always manage to bring a freshness and vividness to school life.

The freshmen and sophomores are the newest and youngest classes. They come to Cousino with no notion of what to expect of school life. But perhaps the hardest role is that of the junior class. They must set the example for the younger classes, yet, at the same time, follow the example of the senior class.

The underclassmen not only follow in the footsteps of the older classes, they blaze paths for classes to come.

The Freshman Class: a Unique Addition to Cousino

With the beginning of the 1968-69 school year at Cousino a freshman class was added to the student body. There was not enough space to schedule these students along with the sophomore, junior and senior classes, so the school adopted a split schedule. With this type of scheduling the freshmen class started school two class periods later and also finished two class periods later.

The class of 1972 participates in many of Cousino's activities and sports. Although students can not qualify for some varsity sports, they have an equal chance for all others and have succeeded to prove themselves as a valuable addition to Cousino.

for Concerned Students

This year's sophomores, class of "71", must feel honored that they are not the low men on the totem pole. As it has turned out this year with the overabundance of students, Cousino has freshmen for the first time in five years. With the aid of the Junior Council, a Sophomore Council was formed. This gave them a head start on fund raising activities. Their funds will pay for the 1970 Junior-Senior Prom.

High school life is new and challenging to the sophomores. With a feeling of accomplishment the class of "71" will graduate knowing that they did not just attend school for themselves, but that they did their share to make others enjoy their years at Cousino. Their spirit at pep assemblies show their school, as well as class unity. In June of 1971 the graduates can look back on the past three years and say I'm proud I went to Cousino.

Spirit-Minded Juniors Prepare for Homecoming

Class of '70, the middle men, must follow in the steps of the seniors yet must also set an example for the sophomores and freshmen.

Responsibility is the key word for the Class of '70. The Junior Class is busy throughout the year earning enough money to present the best and most memorable Junior-Senior Prom, the biggest occasion of the year. Junior and Senior couples will enjoy this formal event for the second consecutive year at the Latin Quarter.

Junior Council members are the chief organizers of all the fund raising activities. Together with their sponsor, Mr. Ted Cichecki, they work to make a fun-filled year.

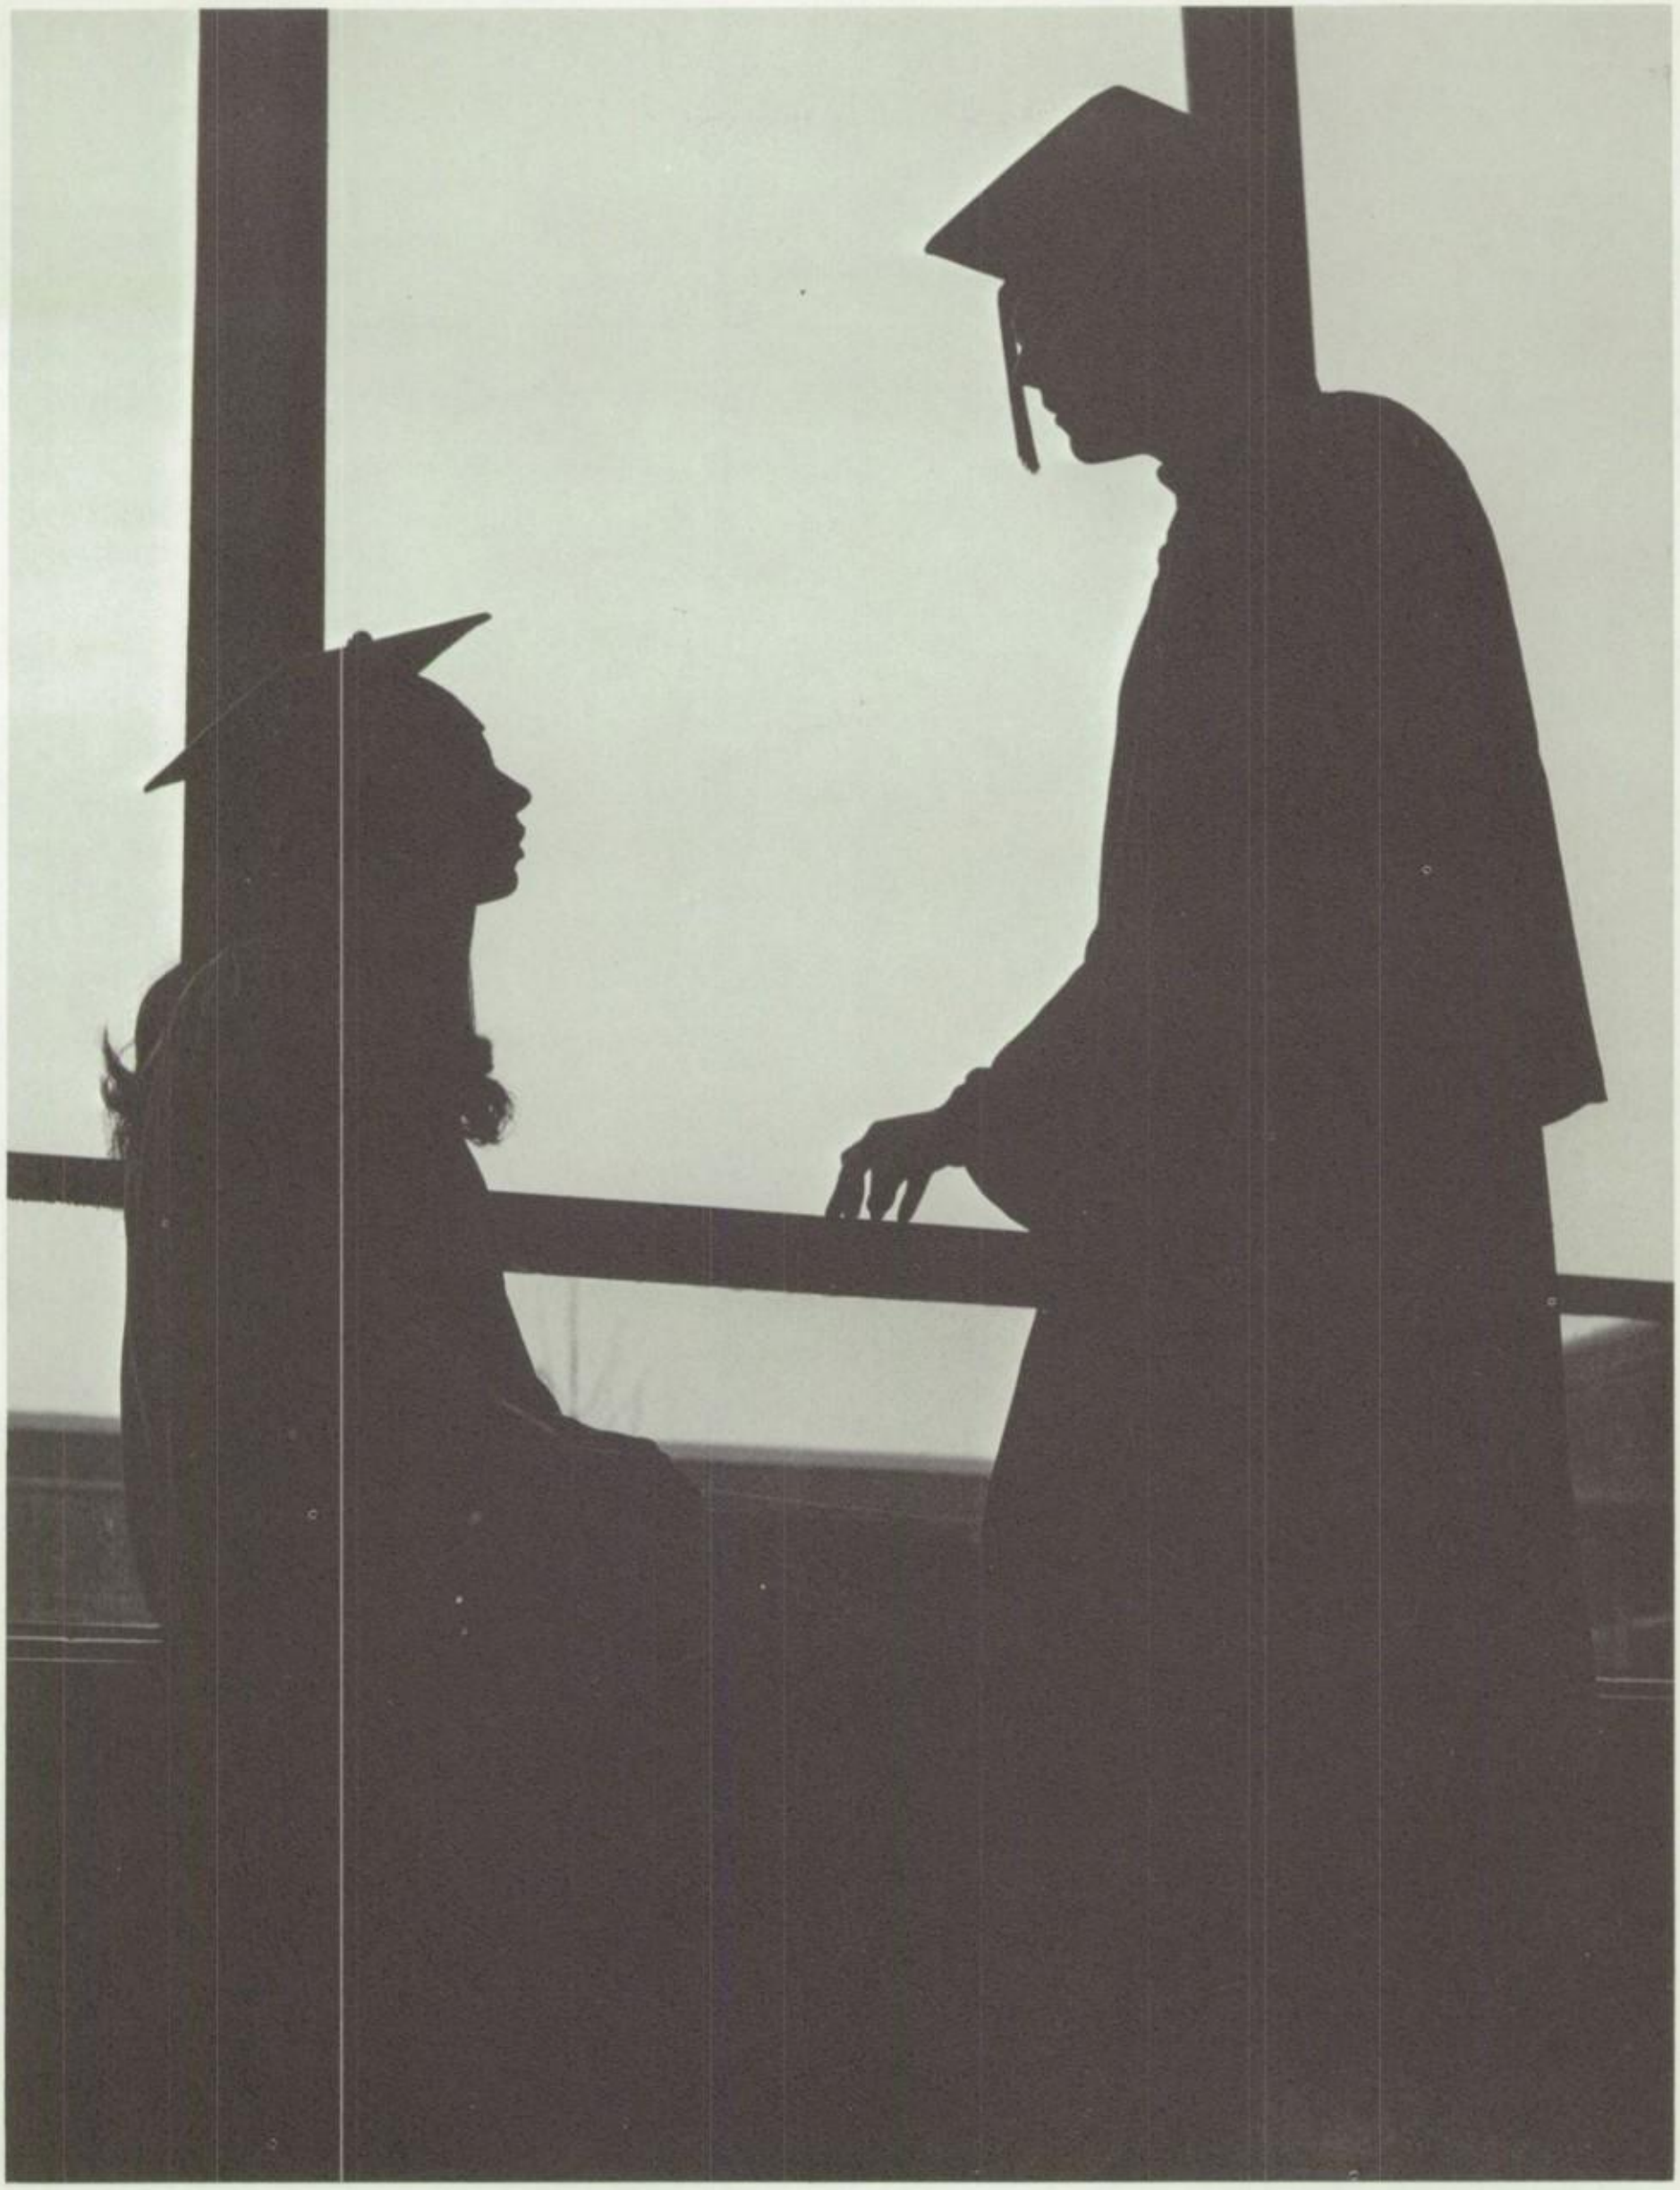
Seniors

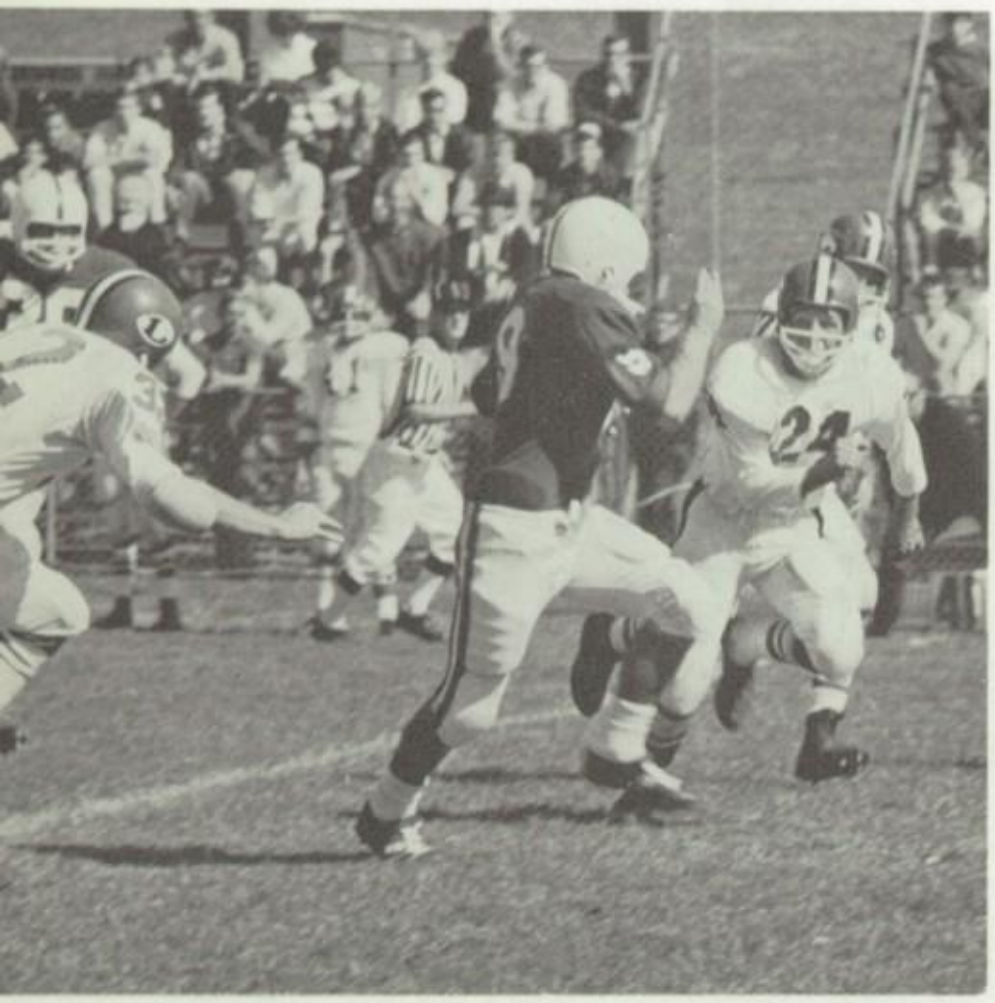
A lingering memory will be made for all who are a part of Cousino when, in June, 496 seniors will stand together for their final time as a class.

Although they have attended Cousino for a short three years, this year's senior class will leave behind them an indelible mark. Leadership, originality, and determination have characterized the class of '69 as one of the greatest to graduate from Cousino.

For many seniors, graduation will joy the year's collection of dusty, almost forgotten memories. Senior Week, winning the Pep Pot, the Prom, and just the quest, lonely moments in hushed halls will become cherished memories. For every senior, all these things will be remembered yet left behind as they look to their futures and to newer goals and challenges.



Varsity Starts Season, Ends on Winning Note



Cousino's Varsity Football team started the season off right by trouncing Fraser, 20-7, in the season opener. This started the improvements over last year's team, that lost the season's opener to Fraser.

After losing the next game to St. Clair, however, Cousino dropped five straight league games, including a last-minute loss to Lincoln in Cousino's Homecoming game.

Then, Cousino came back to defeat Hamtramck in the last game of the season. The game, which included a half-time introduction of all Cousino Varsity players' parents, was called the Sunshine Bowl. Cousino responded by beating Hamtramck, 14-7, in a fourth quarter surge.

JV Football Team Shows Promise for Future

Cousino's 1969 J.V. football team did something this year that is not often done in football, or in any sport for that matter. They came close to doubling their opponents scores, outscoring them 130 to 86; yet they ended the season with a losing record, three wins and five losses. They led by an average of about ten points a game, and they scored almost seven points themselves.

This team does have promise for future years, though. Some of the players have brothers who have played on Cousino's football team in past seasons giving them added experience. Some players of this J.V. team have already played on this year's Varsity Football squad.

No matter what, the fact remains, this year's J.V. team will be a team to watch in coming years.

Patriots Finish Third, After Dramatic Start

Cousino's 1968-1969 Varsity Basketball team started out their season in good style, but it ended on a tragic note. After going half way through the season tied with Fitzgerald for first place, Cousino lost four league games and ended the season in third place.

The Varsity's league record was 6-4, but their overall record was 11-6.

The biggest victory of the season was a win over Mt. Clemens by the score of 69-64. Mt. Clemens went to the semi-finals in the basketball play-offs at the end of the season.

The most valuable player on this year's team was Paul Hicks. Paul set a new individual scoring record by making 38 points in one game. Bob Preston and Paul Hicks were also voted in as members of the All-Warren League Team.

Speed, Agility, Gives JV 13-4 Team Record

After losing the first two games of the 1968-69 basketball season, the Junior Varsity Basketball Team won thirteen of their next fifteen games, including nine games in a row. Their final record of 13-4 was good enough for a second place finish in the league.

Cousino averaged 66 points per game while allowing their opponents an average of 58 points per game.

Cousino was tied for first place until they lost their last game of the season. Jerry Allen and Mark Papak were the most valuable players on the Junior Varsity this year. Jerry averaged eighteen points per game, while Mark averaged fifteen points per game. They should help improve the Varsity Team next year.

Cheerleaders Increase; Add Wrestling Squad

Even though Cousino has almost doubled in size from last year's enrollment, this year's cheerleaders still helped to develop school spirit and unity among the students at Cousino.

Four more boy cheerleaders were added to this year's Varsity squad. Last year was the first time in Cousino's history that boy cheerleaders participated on the Varsity cheerleading team.

This year, Cousino developed a new addition to the cheerleading squad since wrestling is a relatively new sport at Cousino. A cheerleading group for the wrestlers was started. If this cheerleading group has any of the luck that the two previous cheerleading squads have had, they should have great success here at Cousino.

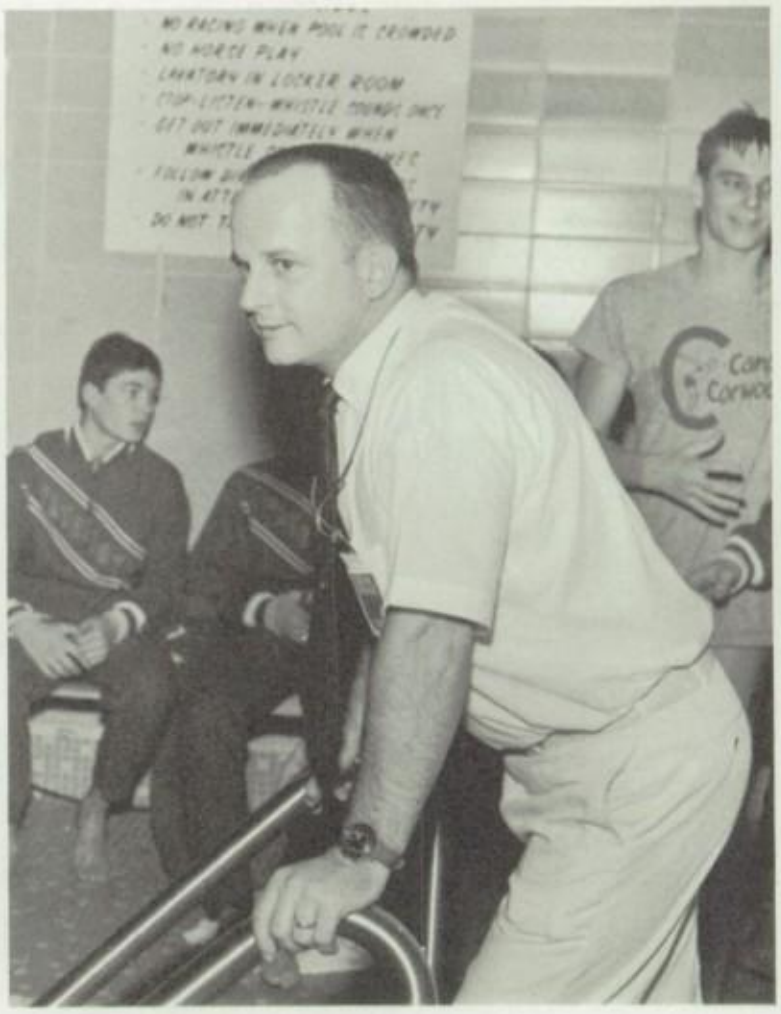
Spirited Cousino Swimmers Take League Title

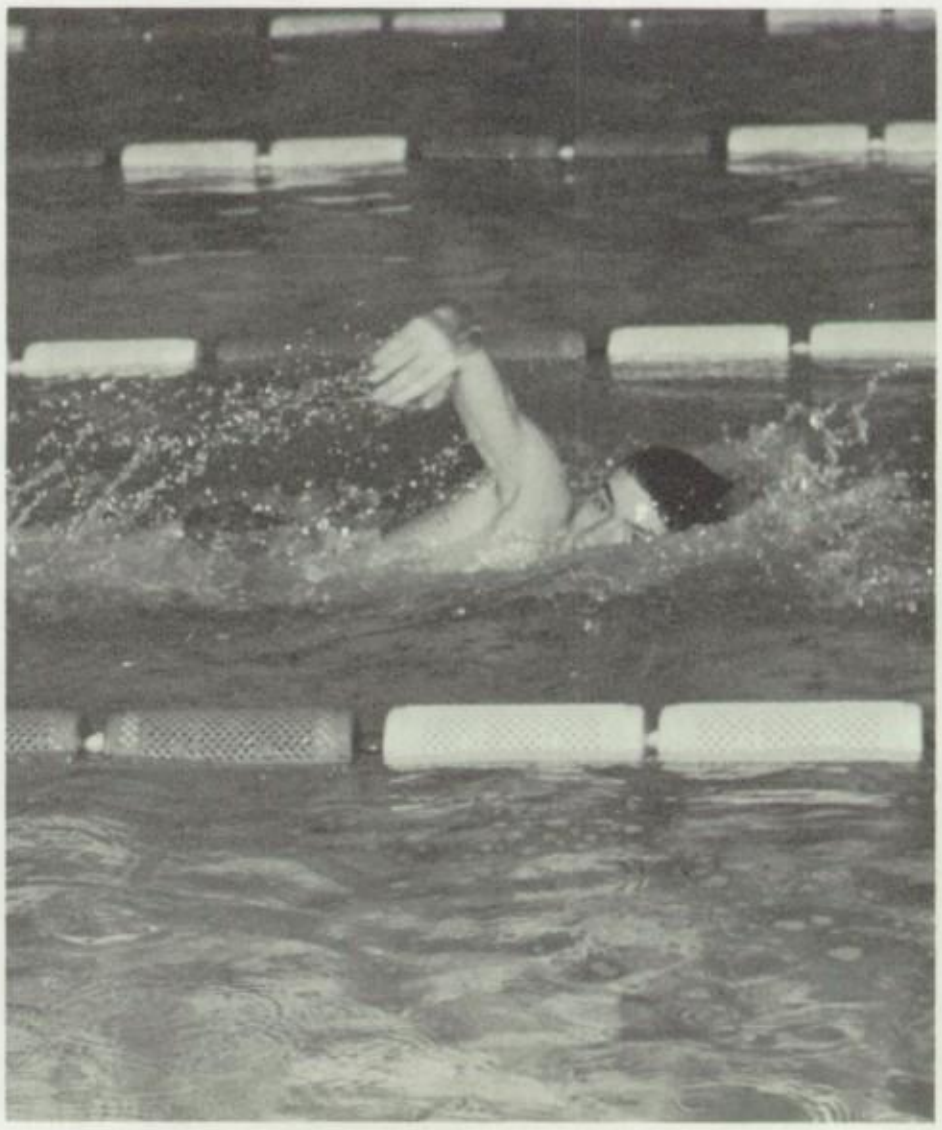
Cousino's mighty swim team coached by Mr. James Elliott and his assistant Mr. John Zago, once again made a tremendous showing this year. The Patriots hold a perfect conference record this year. This makes it the fourth consecutive year that Cousino has been in first place.

This season marked the start of a new swim conference consisting of Fitzgerald, Lincoln and Warren.

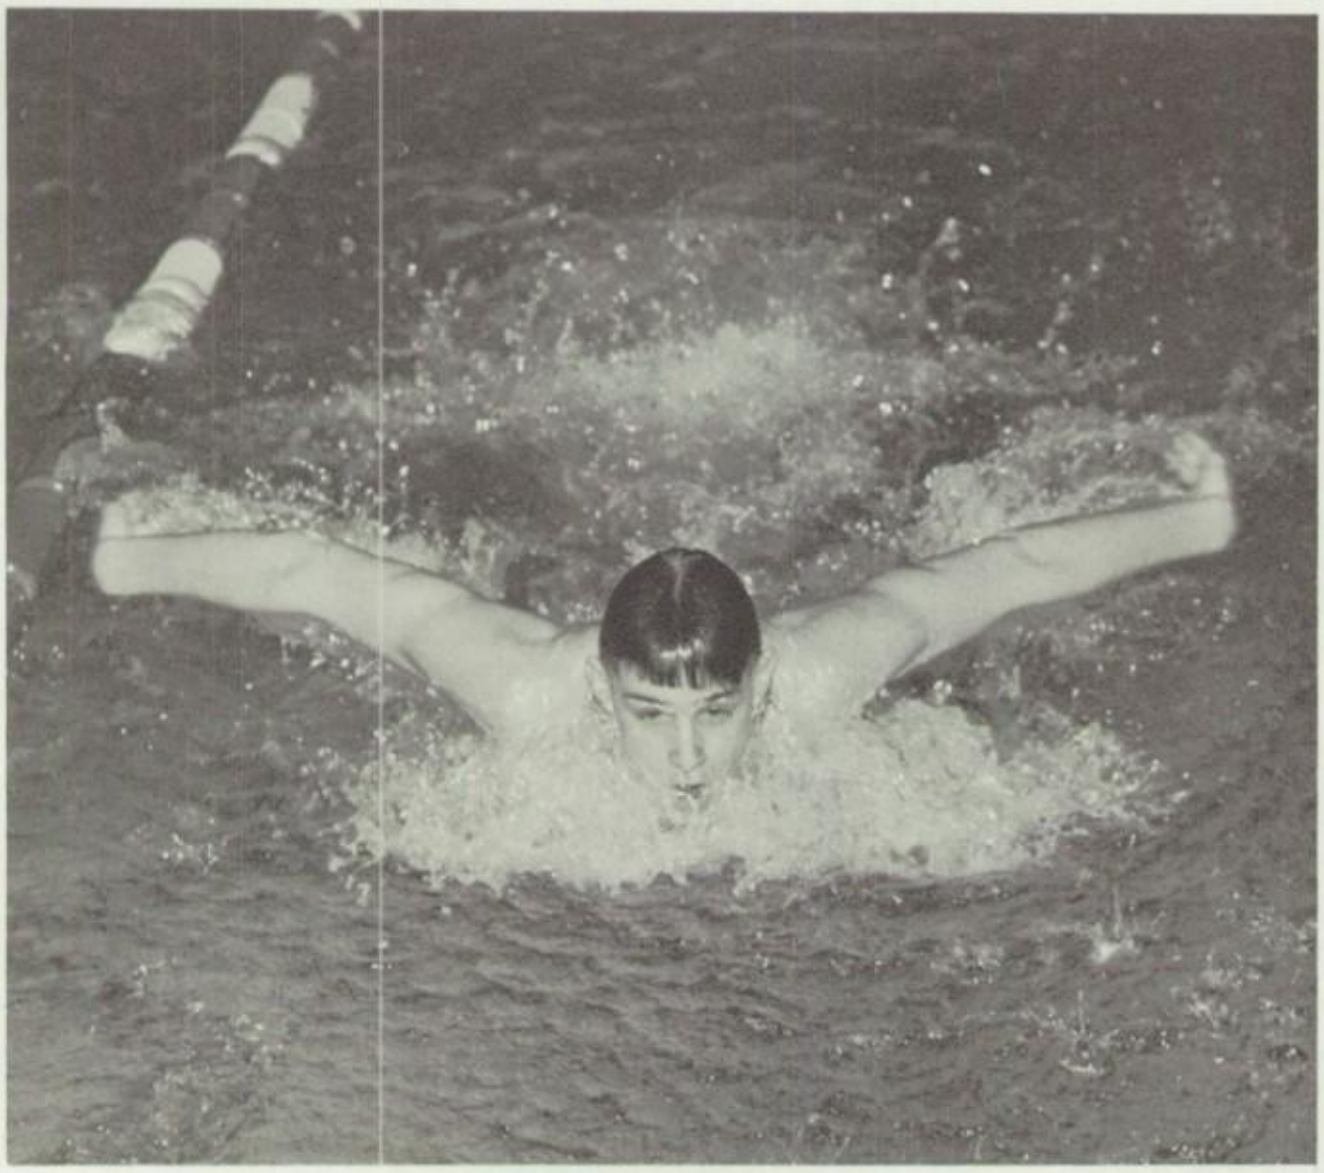
In the Conference Finals the Patriots were victorious with a margin of 64 points over the nearest contendor. With next year's experienced swimmers, top place in the State Conference can surely be a realistic goal for the Cousino Swim Team.



Coach Jim Elliott looks on with that gleam of victory in his eye.



Chuck Russela strokes on to his 400 free style record.



First place is the goal for butterflyer, Mark Green.

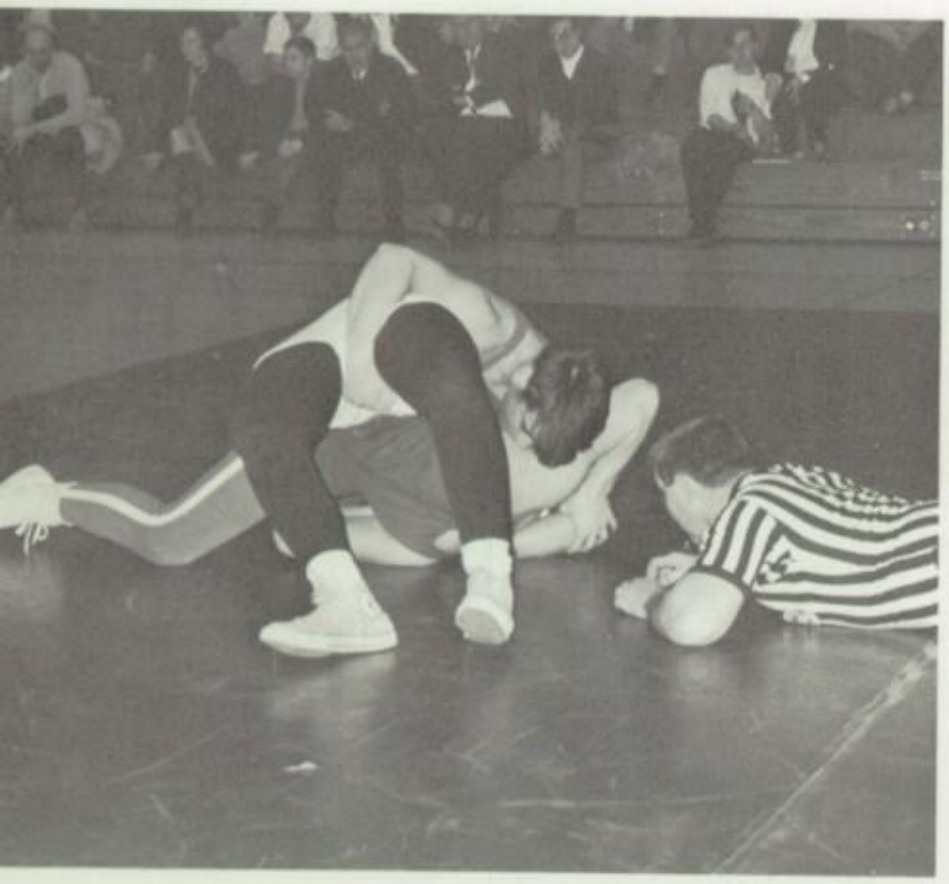
Season's Improvement Sparks Wrestling Enthusiasm



Ben Malson places secure grip on his opponent.

Cousino 1968-69 Wrestling team was quite successful this year, even though their season's record was 4-12.

The teams enthusiastic spirit and competitive attitude made the team a great part of Cousino's fine athletic program. Coached by Lynn Capps, senior Dick Maserone placed first in the heavyweight class at the first Warren Invitational Wrestling Meet. Second places were taken by Brent Meader, Ray Morganti, Gary Witmer, Joe Marchese, and Bill Malson.

Cousino probably had its toughest season ever since entering the league a few years ago. The season included matches against such power houses as Madison and Avondale. The season then ended with such strong opponents as Kimball, Lincoln, and Fitzgerald.

Undefeated Team Is Second in School's History

The 1968 Cousino Cross-Country team did something this year that has been done only once in the seven year history of Cousino. They went undefeated in both league and non-league competition and ended the season with a remarkable 9-0 record.

Not only did the cross-country team have a perfect season, but they took first place in the all-conference meet, beating all five teams in the new Warren league.

The team finished seventh in the Regional meet. In this meet, Mark Gill, Cousino's top runner, qualified for the State meet on November 2 at Ypsilanti.

Some of the Seniors who made a fine showing this season were Mark Gill, George Donaldson, Vern Rottmann, Don Smith and Jack Krol.

Good Offense Takes Cousino to Tiger Stadium

Cousino's Varsity Baseball team made a fine showing of itself again last season. Their 10-5 win-loss record enabled them to tie for second place in the Warren Conference.

Cousino's offensive game proved to be a powerhouse. In the 15 games that were played, Cousino scored 76 runs and let by only 45 runs.

At the end of the season, Cousino was the runner-up in the Macomb County Tournaments. They were eliminated by Utica, 2-0, in a game at Tiger Stadium. But Cousino did not give up easily. It took Utica 12 innings of a regularly scheduled 7 inning game to clinch the Macomb County Tournament. Utica then went on to win the State Championship.

Those Cousino students who saw the game will long remember as a high point in Cousino's baseball history.

Cousino Ties for Third Place With 3-2 Record

Paul Hicks clears the pole in the high jump.

Cousino's 1968 track team tied for third place in the new Warren Conference last year, with a 3-2 win-loss record. Their overall record for last year's performance was 3-3-1. Cousino also took fifth place in the Fitzgerald Relays at the end of the year. In these relays Cousino took first in the four-mile relay, consisting of Norm Teisan, Mark Gill, Ed Davis, and Ken Wilbert.

Other outstanding individuals in Cousino's 1968 season and their respective races were: Mike Kennedy, 880 yard run; Dave Oikarinen, 440 yard run; Pat Dawson, 180 yard low hurdles; Paul Hicks, high jump.

Cousino should have an even better record this year, because many of the lettermen will be returning.

New Sports Arouses Talents, Interest at Cousino

Last spring, Cousino developed a sport which responded with immediate success. The sport was tennis. Coach Joe McKinstry organized an exhibition team last year, and he discovered some outstanding individual talents. Although last year's team members could not earn their letters, they gained some valuable experience and the entire team returned for this season.

This year, although some changes have taken place, tennis still remains an enthusiastic sport at Cousino. Mr. Bruce Getzan, a new history teacher, was the tennis coach. This year the tennis team became the newest member of the new Warren Conference.

Cousino met a full season of ten games, as tennis became an official letter sport at Cousino.

Basketball, swimming, and volleyball are only a few spirited sports in which the girls participate. Of the members of the swim team, several have been chosen as outstanding participants. Paula Pryslak was awarded as being Athlete of the Year, Nancy Evans was awarded the Outstanding Achievements Award. The most promising girl was Linda McFarland.

Also, included in GAA is the Modern Dance Club, Orchesis. Each year they present a spring concert with a variety of themes. This year's "Mass Society" was truly, as in the past, a most successful accomplishment, a result of the effort given by Mrs. Decker, the club's sponsor.

Kathy Banasiak prepares to strike the volleyball as her opponents await for the return.

Sports

The player concentrates on the basket, muscles tensed. A huge gym full of people hold their breath; anxiously straining forward determined not to miss a second of the action. The ball is released and dangles along the rim — it goes in! Suddenly, the whole gym is alive with people cheering. The player breathes a deep sigh of relief.

This is the type of communication between the spectators and the players which make swimming meets, basketball games, and all other athletic events such an important part of school life. Overtimes, close scores, or even the losses will never be forgotten.

Great athletes make a proud team and a proud school. It is because of this feeling of pride that Cousino will be remembered and respected by its students that have had the privilege to graduate from Cousino, as well as those still working for their diplomas.

Traditional Slave Sale Successful;

Amusing Entertainment

Senior Council's 5th Annual Slave Sale was held on Friday, February 21, 1969. There were fifteen slaves auctioned off to the highest bidder in the student body. Thirteen of the slaves were nominated by their government classes, and then were further selected by Senior Council's finel choices. The thirteen slaves were seniors, Sharon Bimer, Charles Cardamone, Kathy DeCook, Gary Kinkade, Jack Krol, Pat Nestor, Karyn Oldani, Paula Pryslak, Sue Ruthenburg, Rich Watters, Larry Wilk, Chris Wilson, and Garry Valentine. There was also two Honorary Slaves that were appointed by Senior Council, they were foreign exchange students, Sven Eriksson and Riitta Tahtinen. For a week the slaves obeyed their "masters" commands. This included carrying books, singing songs during lunch hour, reciting poems on the Senior Block, riding tricycles, pulling wagons, getting lunches for their masters, and in one instance, skating along on one roller skate all day. The fifteen slaves also wore what their masters commanded them to. Some of their attires were guy majorettes, girl football players, organ grinders, little boys, ballerinas, monsters, and last but not least, combat boots were always on the scene.

Harold Chin, Paul Bringer, Dennis Bartz, Rich Saunders bid.

Senior slaves Sharon Bimer, Pat Nestor, Chuck Cardamone, and Karen Oldani take books from their underclassmen masters.

Seniors Identify Themselves As 'Great' During

Senior Week, a newly formed tradition at Cousino, began Monday, February 17, with full participation from the Seniors for Senior Dress-Up Day. Tuesday, Seniors let their imaginations run wild for the first Senior Clash Day. A new tradition was set Wednesday with an excellent turnout for the Senior Breakfast. Thursday, Casual Day, was anticipated by Seniors because it was the only day of the year where slacks, jeans, shorts, and tennis shoes were allowed. The climax of the week was Friday, when Jim Yerke was announced as Ugly Man, teachers, administration, and Seniors exchanged places and the Annual Slave Sale was held in the evening. All in all, Senior Week was a great success for the Seniors.

Jack Krol obeys his master's command to wear a majorette uniform on one day that he is a slave.

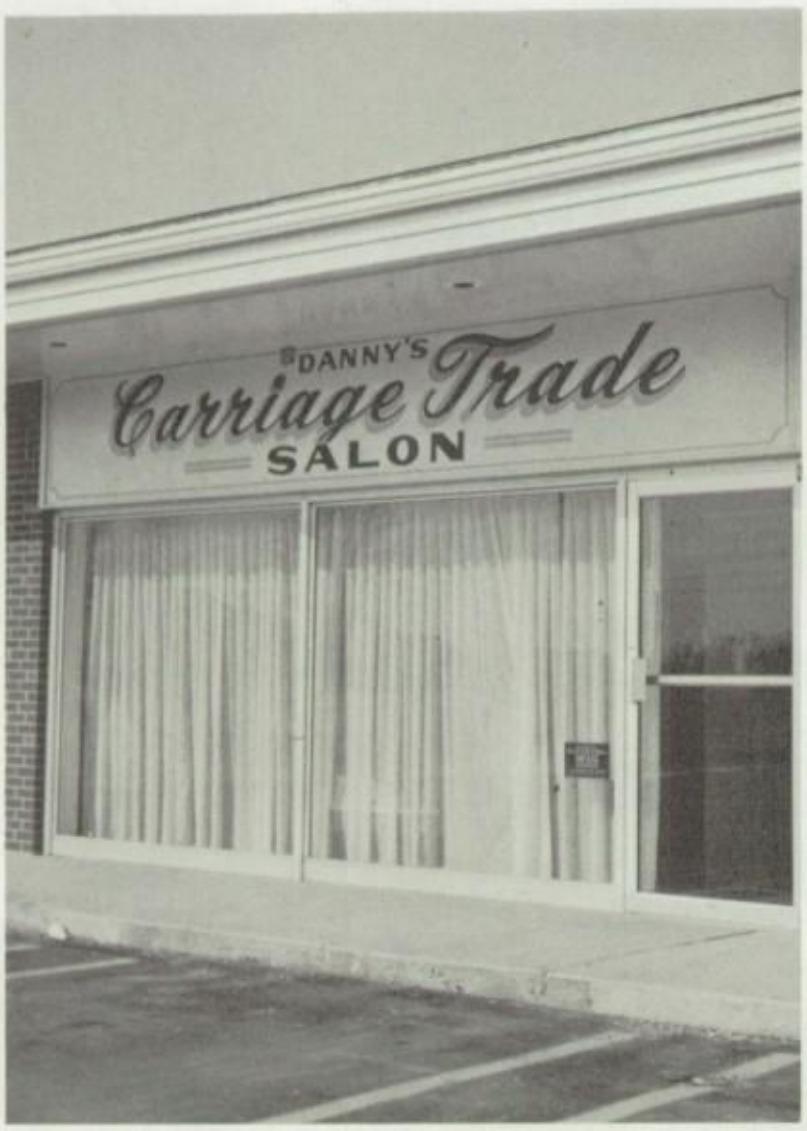
Class of '69 Fondly Retraces Senior Year

Advertisements



A truly lasting impression of the type of community that we as students live in is depicted in the businesses and style of advertising that is symbolic of these businesses. New ideas and progress are based on the past selling techniques, products, advertising, and customers which make way for a promising and successful community.

As each student enters Cousino each day, he prepares for the type of business he plans to enter as his life work. Businesses thrive on advertising, as does the yearbook. Without ads a successful yearbook could not be born. The advertisers who support Cousino's publications also support the students who are consumers and who will eventually become the businessmen in this community.

It is by way of advertising that the lasting impressions of business will influence the success of Cousino students.
